BECOME AN ACADEMY INSIDER!

The Academy of Natural Sciences of Drexel University is a world-class natural history museum dedicated to advancing research, education, and public engagement in biodiversity and environmental science. As a member of the Academy, you can experience it all!

Discover the Natural World

An Academy membership opens the door to some of the most spectacular wonders of the natural world. Where else in Philadelphia can you encounter towering dinosaurs, walk amid live tropical butterflies, and see three continents of wildlife displayed in their natural habitats? With a year of free general admission, the museum—and all of its treasures—are yours to enjoy as often as you like.

Explore our Science

As a member, you will receive priority access to the Academy's groundbreaking science, extraordinary collections, and educational programming. You'll meet some of the nation's top researchers in biodiversity and environmental science and hear from leading experts on topics like urban sustainability. You will even go behind the scenes into our impressive collections on our annual Members' Night. With an Academy membership, you'll get an inside look at the research, science, and education happening here all year long.
